Thursday 2/27/14

Day 3 Post OP.

- Came home yesterday
- Showered this morning and feeling great.
- Getting better with left lateral issues.

Mike continues to be amazing. He is my rock and I'm so happy he is here with with me. Lukas is home for one more day and I will be sad to see him go back to ASU tomorrow.

I've gotten messages from so many people. How incredibly powerful to receive all the positive energy from everyone. I'll never discount the strength I've gotten from my family and friends. I really love all these wonderful people in my life. How lucky I am to have such a rich life.

I hate
this wretched willow soul of mine, patiently enduring, plaited or twisted
by other hands.

—KARIN BOYE (1900–1941)
Swedish poet